David Lee, President

President's Message for The Success Summit 2009

The moment we stop learning, we stop progressing. If you are in leadership position right now, continuous acquisition of knowledge and skills is vital for your present and future successes.

In the quest to catalyse learning for an important yet often neglected group, the managers and professionals, the APTS has designed this year's conference with them in mind. Leaders from both the private and public sectors can look forward to a fruitful day of holistic learning as well as informal networking.

Let's progress together as individuals and as a nation through a spirit of lifelong learning. APTS wishes you success in your endeavours.
